

Citation Elements in order:

Document Example:

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| ❶ Author's name: Dan Kimpel   | ❺ Publication date: 2007          |
| ❷ Book title: Electrify My Soul: Songwriters and the Spiritual Source | ❻ Name of Web site: ebrary |
| ❸ Place of publication: Boston  | ❼ Format: Web                     |
| ❹ Publisher: Thomson Course Technology                                | ❽ Date of access: July 23, 2009   |

The screenshot shows the ebrary interface for the book 'Electrify My Soul' by Dan Kimpel. The interface includes a search bar, navigation tools, a book cover, a table of contents, and publication details. Numbered callouts (1-6) point to specific elements: 1. Author's name, 2. Book title, 3. Place of publication, 4. Publisher, 5. Publication date, 6. Name of web site.

Proper Citation Format:

Kimpel, Dan. Electrify My Soul: Songwriters and the Spiritual Source. Boston: Thomson Course Technology, 2007. ebrary. Web. 23 July 2009.

Parenthetical Reference:

E-books that are also published in print usually have page numbers. Put parenthetical references at the ends of your sentences. Note that there's no comma after the author's name:

(Kimpel 18).